

Alabama House of Representatives

Page Program

Pages are young men and women, ages 10-18, who assist legislators during legislative sessions. They are provided the rare opportunity of working in the House and Senate chambers when the Legislature is in session. They also get to observe committee meetings.

Page duties typically consist of running errands for members and staff, delivering messages, and obtaining copies of bills, resolutions, amendments, substitutes, and other official documents for members.

Both the House and Senate have page coordinators, who supervise the work of the pages that volunteer in their respective body. In addition to playing an essential role in the legislative process, service as a page allows students to meet other young men and young women from all across the state.

Anyone interested in applying for a page position should contact their House member.
