House Bill 144 as introduced establishes a certification and testing process for foreign language interpreters administered by the Administrative Office of Courts (AOC). According to AOC, the one-time cost for testing is $940; the one-time certification fee for a Spanish exam is $385 ($350 for oral exam and $35 for written exam) and other languages oral exam is $690. AOC estimates this bill would increase receipts to the State Judicial Administration Fund by an estimated $2,100 annually, based on projected number of interpreters to be certified.
