HR_____ RECOGNIZING MARCH 21-27, 2023, AS NATIONAL SURVEYORS WEEK IN THE STATE OF ALABAMA.

WHEREAS, the practice of land surveying includes many unique functions, such as locating, relocating, establishing, reestablishing, laying out, or retracing property lines or boundaries on tracts of land; and

WHEREAS, roots dating back to ancient Egypt demonstrate the need for societies to identify and lay out boundary lines to establish property rights; the expeditions of Lewis and Clark contributed to historical mapping of the United States; and

WHEREAS, surveying property requires long hours in varying terrains performing various types of mapping and surveying, including geodetic, hydrographic, engineering, cartographic, and topographical surveys, to gather data to establish land ownership, infrastructure, and geographic information for systems development and to implement technological advancements; and

WHEREAS, surveyors make invaluable contributions to the infrastructure and economy of the State of Alabama and the United States; an annual week-long awareness campaign
